Overview

How do you manage a company? How do you lead a team? How do you encourage innovation? Moreover, how do you control processes in a company? Management skills are the key to the success of modern companies. BSP is a university for management and law - the Business Administration Master is our flagship in management. With this degree, you will receive cross-industry and cross-departmental training, as well as state-of-the-art management expertise.

Practice, Practice, Practice

The Business Administration Master is a practice-oriented program, meaning you will already get to know companies first-hand. In a separate module, you will visit different companies and compare their business models. This is how theory and practice complement each other in the Business Administration Master.

Digital and AI across all Modules

Digitalisation and the use of AI are cross-cutting themes in all modules.

Future Skills Lab for Management & Tech

Negotiation, presentation, conflict resolution, networking – everyday working life requires a range of soft skills. This training course teaches these skills through exercises and case studies.

Business simulation: Real-world decisions in a virtual company

As part of the Strategy & Vision module, you will manage your own company. This will enable you to gain an understanding of the complex interrelationships within a business.

Ethics: Corporate Values are Not Just on the Balance Sheet

Which values should a manager follow? How do you make a decision when these values are in conflict with economic goals? Management needs a foundation of values. We provide you with orientation for your ethical compass.

About us

BSP Business & Law School is a private, state-recognised higher education institution based in Berlin, with campuses in Hamburg, Munich and Düsseldorf. At BSP, students prepare for careers in business and the legal sector, in sport or in the creative industries through a wide range of bachelor's and master's degree programmes at the university of applied sciences level, as well as through the university-level law degree programme leading to the state examination. All BSP degree programmes are state-recognised and professionally accredited, or are currently undergoing the accreditation process.

In both the university faculty and the university of applied sciences faculty, the programmes are characterised by strong synergies and genuine interdisciplinarity. There is regular exchange between the two faculties. Students and lecturers from all disciplines collaborate on joint projects at BSP.

The Faculty of Business & Management (FH) covers the fields of Business Administration, Management, Communication, Business Psychology, Creative Business, Sports Science and Sports Psychology. In the university Faculty of Law, the law programme offers the opportunity to obtain two qualifications: the First State Examination in Law (Staatsexamen) and, integrated into the State Examination programme, the Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.).

The IRO Group - A Strong Educational Network

The IRO Group is a successful network of research institutes, research and teaching clinics and further education institutes run by educational entrepreneur Ilona Renken-Olthoff. The IRO Group comprises five private, state-recognized colleges and universities: MSH Medical School Hamburg - University of Applied Sciences and Medical University, MSB Medical School Berlin - Hochschule für Gesundheit und Medizin, HMU Health and Medical University Erfurt, HMU Health and Medical University based in Potsdam with campuses in Düsseldorf/Krefeld and Munich, and BSP Business and Law School in Berlin and Hamburg as a management college with a university law faculty.

The IRO Group represents many years of expertise in teaching, research and development. It consistently focuses on an interprofessional and interdisciplinary concept for training health professionals, as well as specialists and managers working in commerce.

The educational institutions within the IRO Group are aimed at sustainably strengthening academic education, particularly in the healthcare sector: through first-class study programs, excellent teaching and research services, in addition to strong partnerships.
